

Lower Merion Township Residential Curbside Composting Pilot Proposal

Submitted by: Mother Compost, in partnership with Bennett Compost

A Unified, Scalable Composting Solution for Lower Merion Township

Mother Compost is proud to lead this proposal in partnership with Bennett Compost, bringing together two of the region's most experienced and values-driven food waste haulers to support Lower Merion Township's sustainability goals.

As a company based in and deeply connected to the western suburbs, Mother Compost offers extensive experience working with municipalities, schools, and residents throughout Lower Merion. Our operational presence, community engagement, and familiarity with the area position us well to serve as the lead contractor.

Bennett Compost, with over a decade of experience servicing Philadelphia's dense urban neighborhoods, brings complementary strengths in scale, logistics, and customer experience. Together, our companies represent a unique model of regional collaboration—one that prioritizes community outcomes over competition.

By combining our assets, infrastructure, and operational expertise, this partnership is equipped to scale quickly and efficiently, ensuring high-quality service, clear communication, and a seamless experience for Township staff and residents.

We are excited to offer Lower Merion Township a locally rooted, mission-aligned solution to food waste diversion—one that is proven, practical, and built to grow.

Company Profiles & Experience

Mother Compost

Mother Compost is a certified women-owned organics recycling company based in the western suburbs of Philadelphia. Founded in 2018, we provide food scrap collection for residential and commercial customers with the mission of strengthening soil, educating the community, and modeling a values-based business. We currently serve approximately 1,500 curbside households across the Main Line region, including customers in Lower Merion Township.

In addition to residential service, Mother Compost operates drop-off programs in partnership with Lower Merion Township at the Libraries, manages school composting programs with area public and private schools, and was awarded an RFP in 2023 to support Delaware County's sustainability goals through organics collection at the County Courthouse.

Bennett Compost

Bennett Compost is the largest and oldest composting company in the Philadelphia area (including Lower Merion Township), providing service to over 6,400 households and more than 150 businesses each week. With over 16 years of experience in organic waste hauling across both residential and municipal settings, Bennett Compost currently operates the largest residential curbside composting program in Pennsylvania.

The company has 30 employees and a fleet of 17 collection vehicles. Bennett Compost also operates two PADEP-permitted organic food waste composting facilities in Philadelphia with a combined capacity of 1,000 tons per year, and maintains processing relationships with two additional licensed facilities outside the city, adding another 4,000 tons of capacity per year.

Since 2020, Bennett Compost has managed four municipal contracts with the City of Philadelphia, including two for organic waste hauling and processing. Their dedicated 3-person customer service team manages onboarding, communications, and program inquiries, while also tracking and reporting data to both public and commercial stakeholders.

Together, our organizations offer unmatched regional experience and the operational scale to deliver a seamless, community-centered curbside composting program.

Approach to Scope of Services

We propose a collaborative and efficient operational model to serve the designated Lower Merion Township route. Our goal is to provide reliable service while promoting education, reducing contamination, and ensuring full transparency with the Township.

Key elements of our approach include:

- Weekly curbside collection every Monday (shifted to Tuesday following Township holidays)
- Prompt transport to a PADEP-licensed composting facility, either Kitchen Harvest or Bennett Compost, ensuring materials are processed responsibly and in accordance with state regulations (Permit numbers and capacity details available upon request)
- Ongoing participant engagement, including regular education, reminders, and customer service support to maintain a low-contamination program.
- Monthly and quarterly reporting to the Township detailing participation metrics and volume of material diverted from landfill.

Each participating household will receive a clearly labeled composting bin—sourced new or repurposed when possible—and a set of educational materials approved by the Township.

Registration and account management will be handled through our online portal, with dedicated customer support available to address participant needs throughout the pilot.

Residential Compost Collection Experience

Mother Compost has provided residential collection services since 2018, currently serving 1,500 households throughout the Main Line.

Our local roots are complemented by the scale of Bennett Compost, which operates the largest residential curbside composting program in the region, including over 6,400 weekly households across Philadelphia and Lower Merion Township.

Composting Facility Partners

Our collected material will be transported to permitted composting facilities with ample capacity. The primary processing locations include My Kitchen Harvest at Linvilla Orchards (Mother Compost's processing partner) and Bennett Compost's two PADEP-permitted facilities in Philadelphia. These facilities have 1500 tons/year of composting capacity.

In addition, Bennett Compost has access to two other permitted facilities outside the city with combined processing capacity exceeding 4,000 tons annually.

Education and Contamination Prevention

Clear, consistent education is central to program success. Our team will engage participants with user-friendly onboarding materials, tip sheets, and reminders delivered via email, print, and social media.

We maintain open communication through our customer support team and address contamination directly through driver reporting and customer outreach, ensuring a clean stream of organics and building long-term participant confidence.

Customer Support & Communication Protocol

Mother Compost and Bennett Compost share a commitment to responsive, human-centered customer service.

Our support team is available Monday through Friday, 7am–4pm, and strives to respond to all inquiries within three hours.

Participants can contact us via phone or email, and use our online portal to cancel service, report issues, or update account information. Text and email reminders are sent the night before scheduled pickups to boost participation and reduce missed bins.

Bennett's customer support team adds further capacity for customer service support as the program grows, with a dedicated team of 3.

Municipal Program Experience

Both Mother Compost and Bennett Compost bring meaningful experience with public-sector composting initiatives.

Mother Compost currently partners with Haverford Township through a subsidized education and collection program, manages Lower Merion's successful library drop-off initiative, and was awarded the 2023 RFP for composting services at the Delaware County Courthouse.

Bennett Compost maintains four active contracts with the City of Philadelphia, demonstrating its capacity to meet the needs of large municipal programs. These contracts are valued at over $400,000 / year and include both organics collections and processing components.

Operational Capacity and Readiness

Our joint proposal leverages robust staffing and fleet resources: Mother Compost brings 8 staff and 3 collection vehicles, while Bennett Compost contributes 30 staff and 17 vehicles.

Together, we have the infrastructure, technology, and systems needed to onboard 1,000 additional households without delay.

Both teams utilize the StopCheckr platform for route optimization, service tracking, and customer communication—ensuring a seamless, high-quality experience regardless of which team is servicing a particular household.

MANAGER OF WASTE & RECYCLING

Recommendation of Mother Compost

To whom it may concern:

I am eager to recommend Mother Compost for the residential composting pilot in Lower Merion Township.

As the Manager of Waste & Recycling at Villanova University, I have worked with Mother Compost since 2023, while they have been our organic waste hauler, and cannot say enough about how positive that experience has been. Their service is top-notch and extremely reliable, and it doesn't stop there. The excellent communication and customer support are unmatched amongst many of the vendors I work with. I never have to worry about whether they will fulfill their responsibilities, and they are always willing to do more to support mine. One example is in how they have partnered with us to provide composting education to our campus community and improve participation in our organic waste diversion program. Gwenn Nolan and her team have been excellent partners in our pursuit of zero waste.

Another reason why I feel Mother Compost would be a good fit for Lower Merion's composting pilot is their strong, local ties. They are based out of the Main Line and their mission-driven approach is to improve sustainability in this region. They and their families live and work in this area and demonstrate a strong sense of ownership towards improving sustainability here. They aren't just doing what they do because it's good business. They do it because they want to improve our communities.

I applaud Lower Merion Township and its residents for taking this important step towards implementing a curbside composting program, and I strongly feel that Mother Compost will meet and exceed your expectations if given the opportunity. If you need any additional information, or would like to discuss this in more detail, please feel free to contact me.

Yours sincerely,

Albert Motel, CRP, TRUE Advisor for Zero Waste

To Whom It May Concern,

I'm writing in support of Mother Compost as a partner for the Lower Merion Township curbside composting initiative. Over the past six years, I've had the opportunity to work closely with Gwenn Nolan and her team as both a collaborator and processing partner. I can say with confidence that Mother Compost is one of the most mission-driven, operationally sound, and community-oriented food scrap collection companies in the region.

Since launching in 2018, Mother Compost has grown from a single residential route to a robust hauling operation serving households, schools, and commercial accounts across the Main Line and beyond. Their team consistently demonstrates reliability, professionalism, and a deep commitment to education and outreach — essential qualities for the success of any municipal diversion program.

As the founder of Kitchen Harvest, Inc. I've had a front-row seat to their evolution. Together, we've diverted thousands of tons of organic material from landfills, supported school composting initiatives, and strengthened regional composting infrastructure. Their attention to customer service and route execution is unmatched, and their work has directly contributed to stronger soil systems and more climate-conscious communities in Southeastern Pennsylvania.

Lower Merion would be well served by partnering with Mother Compost. They bring the technical capacity, public engagement mindset, and on-the-ground experience needed to make a curbside program successful — not just operationally, but culturally as well.

Sincerely,
Chris

To: Lower Merion Township

From: Miguel Servellon, Assistant General Manager - Reading Terminal Market Corporation

Subject: Recommendation Letter Mother Compost Pilot

Greetings from the Reading Terminal Market Management Team!

It is our pleasure to provide a recommendation supporting the selection of Mother Compost as the lead vendor for Lower Merion Township's curbside composting program.

Since 2024, Reading Terminal Market has partnered with Mother Compost to divert 776,074 pounds of food scraps from landfills. With 76 merchants and an annual foot traffic of 4-5 million visitors, the Market generates a significant volume of waste. This pilot program currently manages organic waste from 10 merchants and has proven successful in a high-traffic, urban environment. The Market now seeks to expand its composting operations in partnership with Mother Compost.

Mother Compost has been a reliable and collaborative partner, helping troubleshoot challenges and refine the program to meet the Market's evolving needs. For example, they adjusted their pickup schedule to operate during off-peak hours - 4:30 to 5:00 a.m., three times per week - streamlining waste removal for building staff. To support merchant participation, Mother Compost created customized onboarding materials, including training resources for employees and tailored marketing collateral to encourage adoption. They also provide daily reports on organic waste collection, allowing the Market to monitor performance and track environmental impact.

We see value in expanding access to composting regionally, and believe Mother Compost would bring the same care and capability to residential programs.

Letter of Recommendation – Mother Compost

From: Amy Feeney, Lower Merion Resident and First MC Subscriber

To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing to enthusiastically recommend Mother Compost as a service provider for municipal composting. As their very first subscriber back in 2019, I've had the unique privilege of watching their work grow from a single bin at my curb into a movement that's reshaping how our community thinks about waste.

Since day one, Mother Compost has been consistent, professional, and deeply committed to their mission. Over the past six years, my household alone has diverted more than 6,700 pounds of food waste from landfills thanks to their service. That's over 150 pickups—nearly every other week for six years—and not once have they missed a beat. Every visit has been reliably completed, even through holidays, snowstorms, and a pandemic.

What sets Mother Compost apart is the combination of reliability and heart. They've never been just a hauler—they're educators, community builders, and problem solvers. Their impact extends far beyond my white bucket.

As a Lower Merion resident, I believe strongly that this kind of thoughtful, locally rooted service is exactly what we need in our Township. Mother Compost has already proven what's possible with commitment and care. I hope to see their work grow even further through this program.

Sincerely,

Amy Feeney

Lower Merion Township Resident
Mother Compost Subscriber Since 2019

Gwenn Nolan is the founder of Mother Compost, an organics recycling company that helps people and businesses transform food scraps into fertilizer. Launched in 2018 with a single route on the Main Line of Philadelphia, Mother Compost now serves more than 1,500 households and over 40 local businesses—diverting millions of pounds of food waste from landfills and turning it into something that gives back to the earth.

At the heart of Mother Compost is a mission to make composting easy, accessible, and impactful. Through a focus on service, education, and storytelling, Gwenn and her team have helped build a community of everyday environmentalists committed to circular waste solutions.

From loading trucks and managing growth to speaking in school gyms and township boardrooms, Gwenn is passionate about showing that real climate action can start at the curb. She regularly partners with schools, townships, and local organizations to spread the word about the power of composting and teach practical ways to get started—whether you're a first-time composter or looking to scale a community program.

Before founding Mother Compost, Gwenn spent a decade in operations and advisory roles in the financial services industry. She holds a BA in Public Relations with a Minor in Spanish from Penn State. After obtaining her degree, professional license and working in the field for 7 years she decided to follow a passion for urban farming and ended up in the composting field where she's been ever since.

Before joining Bennett Compost in 2016, Jennifer ran a community composting program in Fishtown which evolved to include an organics collection route for local businesses via bicycle. Jennifer has helped multiple City of Philadelphia compost sites obtain GP-17 permits through Pennsylvania's Department of Environment Protection permitting process and is highly knowledgeable about the requirements. Jennifer has managed multiple municipal contracts with the Philadelphia Department of Prisons and has completed the Compost Operators training course through the United States Composting Council which extensively covers Aerated Static Pile (ASP) operations.

Tim Bennett - Founder & CEO

Tim Bennett started Bennett Compost with $100 and a desire to make composting easier for Philadelphians. Today, Bennett Compost actively works with over 6,500 residents, businesses, community groups, schools and municipal partners to collect over 4,000,000 lbs of food scraps for composting every year making it the largest curbside composting program in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.
